The Fierce Urgency of Now
“We are now faced with the fact that tomorrow is today. We are confronted with the fierce urgency of now. In this unfolding conundrum of life and history, there “is” such a thing as being too late. This is no time for apathy or complacency. This is a time for vigorous and positive action.”

— Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., “Beyond Vietnam,” April 4, 1967
The Unitarian Universalist Veatch Program at Shelter Rock is the national philanthropic giving program of the Unitarian Universalist Congregation at Shelter Rock, located in Manhasset, New York. The Veatch Program provides long term, core support for social justice organizing throughout the United States. A program of faith in action, Veatch has been a leader in progressive philanthropy since 1959.
Veatch at 60

The year 2019 marked our sixth decade of putting Unitarian Universalist values into action through the Veatch Program. Early in the year, we lit 60 candles on a birthday cake and celebrated our past with several Veatch grantees and our congregation, even as we remain focused on the future. The work the Veatch Program funds throughout our country has been vital at every point throughout our history, but certainly today we find ourselves facing a crucial “now more than ever” moment.

We feel the urgency — and have every year since our founding. The Veatch Program was in its first decade when Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. first laid down this challenge:

We are confronted with the fact that tomorrow is today.

We are confronted with the fierce urgency of now.

As he called for fierce urgency in the struggle for racial justice from the steps of the Capitol, and later, for an end to the Vietnam War, Dr. King surely spoke to the Shelter Rock congregants of the time, who heeded his call to action through their support of the Veatch Program. Those original congregants helped create what today has become a deep, determined root system for social change.

We feel the urgency of our times today, but also know that much of what we see now, in the work of nearly 200 Veatch grantees, comes from seeds planted long ago — both the problems our partners struggle against and the visionary solutions they propose to address them. As our grantees across the country fight for living wages for restaurant workers, for example, they do so knowing that tipped work has its roots in racism — originating in the United States as a way to pay newly freed slaves unequal wages. As we continue to dedicate resources through long-term partnerships with organizations and their grassroots leaders, Veatch grantees show us how systems of injustice require deep dismantling.
In these pages, we highlight many of our visionary Veatch grantees. In their own words, they describe how they are tackling the issues of our day on the ground, while digging into the root causes. The breadth of our grantmaking reflects how structural racism, patriarchy, and the exploitation of nature, land and labor for profit are what fuel today’s headlines. They show us what democracy looks like – people from all walks of life gathering for political education, gaining skills, speaking out, mobilizing, holding accountable those they elect to serve the community, and often, working together across geographies and identities.

It is no coincidence that many of the leaders you will read about here are women. Heading into 2020, we welcome the opportunity to lift up and celebrate the many strategic and impactful women who are Veatch grantees – who are galvanizing the power of women to address issues that affect everyone, but impact women most of all. The landscape of social justice itself is transforming as women lead from their experiences: as workers and immigrants; as mothers who are incarcerated because they can’t afford to post bail; as survivors of sexual harassment and assault; as those on the front lines of climate change, who have contributed the least to environmental degradation but bear its costs in their bodies, their homes, their children; and as trans women of color, who stand at the vanguard of movements for gender and LGBTQ justice, yet suffer disproportionate levels of violence and discrimination.

With Dr. King’s words echoing today, Veatch grantees – and our commitment to serve as a resource for building justice in our time – engage us, together, in the “bitter but beautiful struggle for a new world.”

In Solidarity,

Carol Garbarino  Joan Minieri
In early-2019 we said goodbye to Faron McLurkin, who served as a program officer with Veatch since 2016. We appreciate all of Faron’s work with us, and wish him the very best going forward.

In June 2019, Carole Alexander, our Chair for the past two years, completed her service on the Veatch Board of Governors. We are so grateful for Carole’s leadership and her commitment throughout her time with the Veatch Program.

Affordable Homes for All

42 million: Number of households nationwide that could benefit from rent regulation.

20%: Percent rents were allowed to increase in New York City rent-stabilized apartments before Veatch grantees worked in coalition to pass new statewide tenant protections this year.
“If one’s housing is in jeopardy that individual or family is likely in crisis. Thanks to our historic rent control win this year, we tilted the playing field a bit closer to equity for New York’s families and will continue to fight for them.”

— Afua Atta-Mensah, Executive Director, Community Voices Heard

“Make the Road-NY members marching for universal rent control.”

“My landlord refused to give heat in the middle of winter. He wanted my family out because we are rent stabilized. Make the Road helped me get the repairs I needed and got me involved in the fight for stronger rent laws. We won big this year, and now tenants like me have more power.”

— Maria Cortes, Member, Make the Road New York

“I am energized by the massive people-powered movements winning big campaigns like New York’s rent control legislation and the addition of the Homes Guarantee platform in the movement for the Green New Deal. Housing is the most stabilizing factor for all people.”

— Rahwa Ghirmatzion, Executive Director, PUSH Buffalo

No More Migrant Deaths

7,000: Number of migrants who have died since 1998 trying to cross the U.S.-Mexico border.

1,300: Number of immigrants No More Deaths, a partner group of Veatch grantee Unitarian Universalist Service Committee, provided with free legal representation in Arizona.
“The immoral and inhumane border policies we witness today demand a faith-rooted response and commitment. Our immigrant justice ministries this year continued efforts to dismantle structures of mass incarceration and deportation in California and the nation, working alongside directly impacted communities.”

– Rev. Ranwa Hammamy, Executive Director, Unitarian Universalist Justice Ministry of California

“UUSC is determined to reject and overturn efforts to criminalize compassion and activism. In our longstanding partnership with No More Deaths, we remain steadfast in our support of Scott Warren, a volunteer who faced trial for providing humanitarian aid.”

– Rev. Mary Katherine Morn, President and CEO, Unitarian Universalist Service Committee

End Mass Incarceration

540,000: Number of people currently in prisons in the United States who haven’t been convicted or sentenced but remain incarcerated because they can’t afford to make bail.

125,000: Number of pre-trial defendants in New York State that may benefit from new bail reform laws advocated for by Veatch grantees.
“If this country is serious about freedom and equality, and if we are to realize our vision of abolishing the Prison Industrial Complex, ending money bail and pretrial detention is only the first step. Until the politicians are on the right side of history, we will continue to free ourselves.”

– Mary Hooks, Co-Director, Southerners on New Ground

“Bailouts are an amazing tool to free our loved ones and neighbors, and have helped draw national attention to the issue. This year, we raised $60K for our Black Mama’s Bail Out action in New York. Our success is due to the support we get from National Bail Out, which tells the narrative of why we need to bail Black Mamas out of jail.”

– Alyssa Aguilera, Co-Executive Director of VOCAL-NY

“Ella Baker Center members have helped pass important pieces of legislation that take vital steps toward winning justice for incarcerated people and their families. This year, we helped pass a bill in California to eliminate copays in prisons and jails, and another to ensure pretrial risk assessment safeguards are in place to minimize bias.”

– Zachary Norris, Executive Director, Ella Baker Center

Healthcare, not Wealthcare

14: Number of states still refusing to expand Medicaid access under the Affordable Care Act.

307,000: Number of people expected to gain health insurance coverage thanks to the expansion of Medicaid in 2019 via ballot measures supported by Veatch grantees.
Medicaid expansion will provide life-saving health care to more than 90,000 hardworking Nebraskans. As long-time advocates for access to health care, we helped lead a collaborative statewide effort that collected over 130,000 signatures from 93 counties to put Initiative 427 on the ballot, which Nebraska voters then passed.”

– Becky Gould, Executive Director, Nebraska Appleseed

“At a time when the future of the Affordable Care Act was uncertain, we knew the lives of Mainers were at stake and we had to act. Expanding Medicaid won health coverage for over 70,000 Maine people and created a mandate from voters demanding more health care access, not less.”

– Jesse Graham, Co-Director, Maine’s People Alliance

Ending White Nationalism

229: Number of people killed in the United States due to white nationalist-inspired violence since 2015 — the most since the 1970s.

1,500: Number of toolkits disseminated by Veatch grantee Western States Center to help confront white nationalism in schools.
Members of People’s Action affiliate Michigan United engaged in a ‘deep listening’ canvass to combat white supremacy.

“White nationalists are a threat not just to vulnerable communities, but to our very democratic institutions. In just 18 months, Western States Center has mobilized elected officials, law enforcement, and the business community to take concrete action against the political violence of white nationalists.”

— Eric Ward, Executive Director, Western States Center

Members of Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement at a lobby day.

“Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement members are determined to get the city of Des Moines to ban racial profiling. They have made this the central issue in the Des Moines City Council election, engaging hundreds of residents in the campaign. We will not stop until we have won a ban on racial profiling in Des Moines and the City Council knows it.”

— Sharon Zanders-Ackiss, Special Projects Director, Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement

“People’s Action member organizations are in the midst of a ‘deep canvass’ in North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Michigan. Canvassers knock on doors in rural areas to talk with voters about immigration. We’ve learned talking points don’t matter much compared to simple human connection. By engaging in deeper conversations, we are beating back the infectious tug of White Supremacy.”

— Mehrdad Azemun, Senior Strategist, People’s Action Institute

Stop the Overdose Crisis

192: Number of drug overdose deaths that happen in the United States every day.

5: Number of planned overdose prevention centers in New York City – advocated for by VOCAL-NY and other Veatch grantees.
“In partnership with our member group VOCAL-NY, we have brought together a cohort of nearly 10 groups that are dealing with the overdose crisis to do collective education, rooted in the history of the Drug War. We are looking at solutions that bridge urban-rural-suburban, black-brown-white, and move us from stigmatization and criminalization towards compassion, public health and harm reduction.”

— Sondra Youdelman, Campaigns Director, People’s Action Institute

“West Virginia is truly the face of what it looks like when harm reduction is rejected and demonized — the highest overdose rate in the country for the past ten years, skyrocketing rates of Hepatitis C and HIV, and thousands of people who are completely ignorant to the realities of this crisis and what it takes to end it. It will take us all coming together to tackle this epidemic.”

— Todd Zimmer, Co-director, Down Home North Carolina
Advancing Environmental Justice

4.2 percent: Number of low-income households benefiting from California’s solar initiative targeting renters prior to 2019.

$1 billion: Amount won by Veatch grantee Asian Pacific Environmental Network, among others, to install rooftop and solar energy for low-income renters.

“We’re excited to be part of the Solar and Multifamily Affordable Housing Program, the first of its kind, which offers tangible benefits like bill savings and job training to working class renters. These are the communities contributing the least to our climate crisis, but are impacted the most.”

– Miya Yoshitani, Executive Director, Asian Pacific Environmental Network

Stand with Workers

$7.85: Current hourly minimum wage in the state of Missouri before Veatch grantee Jobs With Justice helped pass a ballot measure increasing it to $12 an hour.

20: Number of states to increase their minimum wages within the last year, many thanks to organizing by Veatch grantees.

“Our latest economic justice victories include increasing the minimum wage and repealing ‘right to work’ with over 60% of the vote. We will continue to organize working people – black, brown, and white – to uphold the will of the voters against elected officials who would rather center the needs of greedy special interests.”

– Caitlyn Adams, Executive Director, Missouri Jobs with Justice

Fiscal Year 2019 Grants Allocation Summary

Total Grants: $12,618,985
2,494: Number of people arrested during at least 30 raids conducted by Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) in 2019.

40: Number of local political candidates to attend trainings organized by Veatch grantee Tennessee Immigrant and Refugee Rights Coalition on the need to protect immigrants from ICE raids and deportation.
“In towns throughout Tennessee ICE is terrorizing our communities. But in the face of such unthinkable brutality and cruelty, our coalition has mounted a resistance. We’ve trained more than 200 leaders in 24 Tennessee towns to organize Neighborhood Defense Committees ready to respond to ICE activity in their communities.”

— Lindsey Harris, Co-Executive Director, Tennessee Immigrant and Refugee Rights Coalition

“ICE has shown time and again that they are not able to detain transgender people safely or humanely. Through rallies, campaigns, and our lawsuit to bring justice for Roxsana Hernandez, an asylum seeker who died in ICE custody, Transgender Law Center has continued our work to shut down immigrant prisons and free the many Black and brown LGBT people being held by ICE.”

— Kris Khayashi, Executive Director, Transgender Law Center

“It is important to recognize ICE’s goal is to create panic, spread fear, and disrupt the way we live. We help our community prepare and stay informed through different methods including community forums, presentations, our social media platforms and websites like www.oregonimmigrationresource.org. We all have rights.”
