TOUCHSTONES

Rev. Dr. Natalie Fenimore

Everyone who comes to Shelter Rock comments on the beauty of the buildings and grounds.

Our ministry, too, is a beautiful thing—worship, religious education, pastoral care, social justice, music, fellowship, and so much more.

Ministry is what we do together to grow and deepen the connections of this community.

How do we nourish the beauty of our shared ministry?

We honor our covenants. We are active in the congregation.

We speak well of one another and our UUCSR community.

As we move toward the end of this congregational year—and prepare ourselves for the next—we can reflect on our commitment to nourishing the beauty of our connections.

We can live into the words of Susan Manker-Seale:

Much of ministry is a benediction—
A speaking well of each other and the world—
A speaking well of what we value:

honesty
love forgiveness
trust

A speaking well of our efforts—
A speaking well of our dreams.
This is how we celebrate life:
Through speaking well of it,
Living the benediction,
and becoming as a word
well-spoken.

Members of the LGBTQ+ Sub-Committee with Rev. Jennifer Brower

June is Pride Month, an annual celebration commemorating the 1969 Stonewall Riots that launched the lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer rights movement in the United States. Juneteenth is the day we recognize the end of slavery in the United States in 1865. May we take this month of June as an opportunity to recommit to the values of equality and the dignity of every human person. *

Meet the Moment is the 2022 UUA General Assembly (GA) theme. Wherever we've come from, wherever we're going, this very moment is the only time we can act to change ourselves, our lives, and the life of the wider world. During GA, thousands of Unitarian Universalists gathered to consider the moment we all are now meeting. At UUCSR, onsite and online, we celebrate the blessings that can arise as we "Meet the Moment." *

UUCSR's June 26 Worship Service, as usual, is onsite and live-streamed at 11:00 am. The GA Sunday Worship Service will live-stream at 12:30 pm, Eastern Daylight Time.

 Worship Services are in-person, AND livestreamed! Masks are encouraged and required for singing. Livestreams available on uucsr.org/worship, Facebook, and YouTube. Closed captions and podcasts available afterward.*

The Sunday Morning Experience is available online using just one link! Beginning at 10:30 AM, join via Zoom, then stay for live Worship Service and Coffee Hour. Join HERE.

CONGREGATIONAL AFFAIRS

Jana North, President of the Congregation

A Message from the President Annual Report to the Congregation

The Board of Trustees began the 2021/22 year at UUCSR looking thoughtfully at how we conduct our business and ourselves. We began by meeting together to talk about strengthening how we work in covenant with each other and with the congregation.

We agreed that being a loving community that fostered spiritual growth was our number one priority. We looked at the structure of our meetings and decided to build in more time to discuss our mission and vision more deeply by placing many small items into a consent agenda format. That has allowed time every month for the BOT to talk about our hope and goals for the congregation. Board members also asked for an informal time to get together on Zoom because they were missing being able to gather in friendship before our meetings. So 30 minutes were added to every BOT meeting before our business discussions begin for members to greet each other and just catch up.

Our commitment to a more just and joyful world was never more apparent than during this turbulent year. When Covid hit Long Island, UUCSR acted quickly to release funds to help local non-profit organizations that were extremely hard hit by the pandemic. This past year, the Board of Trustees continued that work by forming a Crisis Grants Task Force which will allow the congregation to fund other non-profits in the future which are affected by a crisis.

After the congregation voted to add the 8th Principle to our mission last year, the Board of Trustees at UUCSR organized a task force to recommend action throughout the congregation that will work to eliminate racism at all levels of our organization. In promoting the 8th Principle, we are affirming our commitment to all our Principles and to Unitarian Universalism in the world.

This past year, the Board of Trustees, alongside our Developmental Minister Rev. Jaye Brooks, has started an in-depth review of the governance and structure of UUCSR. Our hope is to clarify and simplify many of the overwhelming aspects of congregational life at Shelter Rock and put in place a structure that can better nourish the spiritual needs of our current and future members.

While we moved forward on these important issues last year, the Board of Trustees and the congregation also learned that Rev. Jennifer Brower was retiring in June 2022. A Search Committee was then organized to begin to look for a new Minister of Congregational Life to work under the supervision of our Lead Minister Rev. Dr. Natalie Fenimore. A change in ministry can be unsettling and during this year of uncertainty, the Board has done an extraordinary job in stepping up and leaning in to all the work at hand.

It has been a real pleasure working with the Trustees and the wonderful staff this year, and I hope we have been able to instill in the congregation what our Mission describes as an ability to “celebrate the joy of living.” All our time spent and work accomplished should always lead to joy.

DAC Update

The Congregational Year is coming to a close as we celebrate the retirement of The Rev. Jennifer Brower, the ceremonies for our RE children, the final choir presentation, and the congregation's Annual Meeting, elections, budget vote, and the many other things that are part of our tradition.

This issue of the Quest will mark my final DAC column as chair of the committee. DAC will be in good hands as I pass the leadership torch to our new chair, Barry Nobel. I look forward to his continuing the DAC column in the Quest.

DAC will close the year with a special event—a special onsite auction to benefit UUCSR's Partner Church—scheduled for Sunday, June 19 at 1:00 PM in the Social Hall. (See opposite column.) Please bring your check books and generously support this fundraising effort. Our members and friends have been most generous providing treasures for everyone's taste. No offer will be refused and 100 percent goes to our Partner Church. There are over fifty items up for bid, so there is something for everyone! DAC hopes to see you there. Please mark your calendars: June 19 at 1:00 PM.

GA 2022: Not Business as Usual

The UUA wants the multiplatform General Assembly to be an equitable experience for all, including the voting process. The board approved the final agenda on May 25.

In an effort to increase participation, accessibility, and informed decision-making, voting will be dramatically different at the Unitarian Universalist Association's 2022 General Assembly. General Assembly (GA) is the annual business meeting of the Unitarian Universalist Association (UUA), where delegates from member congregations vote on resolutions, bylaw changes, elections, and other business.

After two years of virtual-only General Assembly due to the pandemic, GA 2022 will be a fully multiplatform event. Delegates may choose to attend online or in person in Portland, Oregon, June 22–26. This year's theme is "Meet the Moment: Reimagining Radical Faith Community."

The UUA is committed to making sure the multiplatform GA, including the voting process, is an equitable experience for everyone. All delegates—onsite or online—will vote via electronic ballot on their phones or computers, or at special voting terminals at the Oregon Convention Center, where the onsite GA will be held. Voting will take place over hours instead of minutes, so delegates have time to confer with the congregations they represent before casting their votes.

True Colors

It may be only a coincidence that the celebration of LGBTQ Pride and the anniversary of the announcement of the end of slavery in Galveston, TX occur in June. Nevertheless, the two celebrations have so much in common. For centuries, in many cultures, Queer people have faced prejudice, violence, and even death when their true identities become known. For centuries, Black people in this country first faced the violence of enslavement, and even until today, the scourge of anti-black racism. Yet, in June, we recognize that oppression is not the end of the story.

On June 28, 1969, Queer folks gathered at the Stonewall Inn Bar, rose up when the police came to harass and beat them. They had had enough! On June 19, 1865, two and a half years after the Emancipation Proclamation, enslaved people in Galveston, TX finally heard the good news. Soon June 19 became Juneteenth, a day when African American freedom is celebrated!

The LGBTQ+ Sub-Committee at UUCSR invites all to join them in observing these two celebrations of freedom and liberation! On Saturday, June 11, they will join the "Be the Rainbow" Pride Walk at 1:00 PM at 64 Shore Drive, Port Washington. With others, they will walk along Shore Road to Sunset Park at 305 Main Street. Look for the UUCSR banner!

On Sunday, June 19, Rev. Jennifer Brower and members of the LGBTQ+ Sub-Committee will lead the Worship Service, Be Your True Colors, a celebration of both Gay Pride and Juneteenth. The Eighth Principle reminds us that we are "working to build a diverse multicultural Beloved Community by our actions that accountably dismantle racism and other oppressions in ourselves and our institutions." May this joint celebration encourage us on our journey to spiritual wholeness!

Veatch Grantees Respond in Buffalo and Texas

Following devastating acts of gun violence in Buffalo, NY and Uvalde, TX, Veatch grantees in those regions are helping to address immediate needs while also working for systemic, political change.

In New York, PUSH Buffalo is fundraising for community relief donations as they continue to address root causes. They are updating a list of resources, and providing coordination, collaboration, and technical assistance to frontline leaders. In a Statement of Commitment and Resource, PUSH also provides context to understand the need to not only address senseless, racially motivated hate crimes, but also the “decades of disinvestment” that have “intentionally alienated entire communities,” of Black and Brown people.

Members of Texas Organizing Project (TOP) registering voters

Political Research Associates (PRA) immediately responded to the attack on the Black community in Buffalo with a clear and impactful analysis of the tenets of white nationalism. You can read more about this grantee's research and advocacy to combat hate, and review the context they provide here.

Texas Organizing Project \(TOP\) is disseminating information to help direct resources to families in Uvalde. Looking ahead to the upcoming elections in Texas, TOP is pushing for voters to turn out at the polls in support of gun control legislation that vast majorities of voters—including Republicans, Democrats, and Independents—support.

Workers Defense Project has shared that they are “providing internal healing work for members reeling from this event, and filling a critical void in the lack of reliable Spanish language content going out to the community about what is happening and going forward, given that Uvalde is an 80 percent Latinx town.”

Veatch grantees are fighting the entrenched agenda that stokes racism and tolerates gun violence in a country that now has more guns than people. That's a political and moral choice, and in our multiracial democracy, Veatch grantees are organizing to make a different choice. With Buffalo and Uvalde, we grieve, in dedication to building power that is fueled by love, with the values and mission to work for justice—in urban New York, in rural Texas, and beyond.

The Unitarian Universalist Veatch Program at Shelter Rock provides support for efforts within the religious and spiritual mission of the Unitarian Universalist Congregation at Shelter Rock where their purposes are best served by outside agencies acting under the Veatch Program and the Congregation.

Soulful Songs and Stories

The topic for PDF #48 is “A pig is a pig is a pig” (apologies to Gertrude Stein) in which we examine in song and story the disconnect between the labels we apply to ourselves and others and behavior hiding behind those labels. The Circular Economy

Modern economies rest on a take, make, waste linear economy. However as natural resources diminish and climate change increases, devastating the world, inflicting more and more natural unnatural climate disasters, there is a new way of combatting it: the circular economy.

The circular economy replaces the extraction of resources with the repurposing of existing products. The result is a zero-waste economy launched in 2015 by the European Union (EU). This initiative was updated in 2020 as part of the Green Deal. The first step was to motivate companies to design products to last longer and be repaired, not thrown away. This was a part of the resolution to adopt a net zero, carbon-neutral economy by 2050 which was made into a resolution by the European Parliament. The leading country to adopt this circular economy has been Finland.

Finland has a comprehensive approach to reducing waste. Besides caps on natural-resource extraction, including forestry and restoration, the public has been recycling and repurposing all materials. Landfills have diminished as people acquire new skills which help eliminate greenhouse gases. One of the most successful efforts was in the schools. They teach the younger generation to think differently about the circular economy, so that the linear economy is eliminated. Fossil fuels are being replaced with bioplastics, etc. They learn it's more than recycling. It is about rethinking everything,"products, material development, how we consume," says Nani Panjunen, a Finnish sustainability expert. Education has become the key and is integral to the curriculum at every grade level.

From grade school up to high school, students learn to take broken items and find useful purposes for the parts. When they reach college, they are able to apply the basics principles of repurposing to new projects in advanced science design and real world problems. Concurrently, farmers are taught about sustainability by learning about regenerative agriculture. They save soil from pesticides and fertilizers that deplete. They use cover crops, crop rotation and animals to enrich the soil. Some of this is being done in the United States by small farms, but is yet to be launched and supported by our government.

Last, the circular economy takes what has been used and makes the product sustainable again. For example, cell phones are being repaired as new and then sold more cheaply. Other products are saved similarly. The global community needs to do likewise and support companies implementing these projects.

Summer Solstice Celebration

Tuesday, June 21, 2022

Noon!!

Outside the Children's Chapel.
All are welcome to celebrate this festival day.

Unitarian Universalists draw from a variety of religious traditions, one of which is Spiritual teachings of earth-centered traditions which celebrate the sacred circle of life and instruct us to live in harmony with the rhythms of nature.

Summer Solstice is a seasonally based Druid (Earth-centered) celebration of the height of the Sun's power in our northern hemisphere. Rituals often highlight the importance of the sun and the earth's dependence on the sun for life of all kinds. Often, seeds are planted, and gratitude is expressed for growth and creativity in its many forms.

The June Solstice marks the longest day north of the equator.

Tech 'n Talk, the Monthly Technology Discussion Series

The Men's Group Tech 'n Talk Series is now finishing its first season and preparing for its second. Our purpose is twofold: to learn more deeply about each other's interests, and to explore new movements and ideas in technology and science—from congregational members' direct experience wherever possible.

Anyone can join us to be the speaker, augment the speaker, help plan, or do research on a topic.

The sessions have had a welcome hominess and informality of people relaxing in their homes and sharing their opinions and questions for the speaker via Zoom and its Chat function.

The programs have also helped build community. Two-thirds of the attendees are from outside the Men's Group and are finding common interests and enjoyable moments with each other.

Teamwork has developed nicely. Our monthly sessions are produced by the team of Herb Klitzner, Gerry Matusiewicz, and Claudia Barbey, augmented by advice from Rev. Jaye Brooks and a widening circle of people from various corners of congregational life.

Let me give a brief recap of our events this season before moving to next year's projected offerings with double the number of events:

- We enjoyed Herb Waldren's comprehensive survey of electric car technology and its issues and opportunities. Herb's interest is rooted in his philosophic values and his deep concern about climate change. Many people in the audience were making plans to buy some kind of electric car and so had lots of interesting questions and cross-discussion.
- We learned of Rev. Jaye Brooks' love of science and technology, initially through her father, and of Gerry Matusiewicz's video-rich experiences with half a dozen self-flying drones—big and small, simple and sophisticated.
- We welcomed the opportunity to re-live a historic art and technology experience from 56 years ago, in this case one attended by Marvin Brown in 1966 involving a mixing of artists and technologists. We learned much about Marvin—his accomplishments and his culture-rooted creative ideas of theatric space.

- We generated a strong willingness of members of teams of presenters to help each other to grow in a new field, sometimes with the support of books and dialogue opportunities built into our planning, as in the forthcoming Longevity Research and Treatments evening on Tuesday, June 14, 7 PM with me, Wally Brown, and Judy Fishkin. (Visit uucsr.org/calendar or call Sharyn Esposito, 516.472.2960, to receive the link.)

Our next season is tentatively planned (see schedule below), with over half the speakers confirmed.

BOOKSTORE COMMITTEE

June Is Pride Month

The Bookstore has a wide assortment of books for the LGBTQ+ crowd. This month's featured title is All Boys Aren't Blue, A Memory-Manifesto by George M. Johnson. On the flap of the book cover it states that Johnson shares both glorious and gut-wrenching memories of growing up Black and queer in America. It also states that most central to Johnson's journey is how to reconcile his Blackness and his queerness identities that are sometimes at odds in his story. He finds that the answer is they are equal parts to a whole and perfectly designed person.

Conversation Café

The Conversation Café may be a good way to have a discussion about All Boys Aren't Blue A Memory-Manifesto or any book. Conversation Cafés are open, hosted conversations in cafés and other public spaces. (It might even be a room at UUCSR!) Cafés are a simple program that helps us make sense of our world and each other.

Questions to go deeper:

- What happened that led you to this point of view?
- How does this affect you personally?
- I'm curious, can you say more about that?
- Here's what I heard...is that what you meant?

Artist's Statement:

My work is a meditation. I use the layered image to encourage viewers to look beyond the obvious, to interpret and to react to the image on multiple levels, whether I am creating a photograph or a surreal painting. I use my art as a visual form of communication, and I am most inspired by irony in life, finding sorrow in beauty and joy in tragedy.

Ann's Way

We were all invited. It was on Saturday, May 21, 2022. A Street Co-naming and Tree Planting Ceremony. In Douglaston, it was at the intersection of 233rd St and 39th Ave. The additional sign was "Ann Jawin Way." The proposal to co-name the street was brought up by Councilman Paul Vallone before being approved by the New York City Council on December 15. "Ann Jawin was relentless when it came to talking about the need of the center," Senator John Liu said during the ceremony. "I am just so thankful that she was able to see the fruition of her efforts." The street co-naming was in honor of our very own Ann Jawin, long-time member of our congregation and our Women's Group, and founder of The Center for the Women of New York.

The Center for Women of New York helps women overcome financial, violence, social, wellness, and legal issues by raising awareness and advocating for full gender equality for women, while also understanding their needs and connecting them with services, non-profit partner organizations, and public resources to aid, uplift, and address their challenges.

The organization also offers support groups for women in crisis and caregivers, workshops, and classes on domestic violence, trafficking awareness, career advancement, financial literacy, sustainable gardening, and English as a second language.

A few of us went to the ceremony. As we arrived, listened to dignitaries, and watched Ann's granddaughter unveil the new street sign, we were filled with memories. There were events at her home, many times dropping her off after meetings or social events. We remembered advocating for a large grant for her organization. The money was used to renovate a building at Fort Totten, NY. After 16 years of advocating and renovating, she cut the ribbon for the opening of the building. It was wonderful for her to see it actually happen after so many years. Ann believed that this landmark historic site would be the only building completely dedicated to full equality for women between the New York metropolitan area and Seneca Falls in upper New York State.

We remember Ann who dedicated her life to advancing women's issues and to helping so many women. Ann's Way will be a reminder of all she gave to women and to her community for many years to come. It was a blessing to know her, work with her, and be a part of the ceremony that honored her.
